Judges Critique

I would like to take this time to say thank you to the British Dalmatian Club for giving me the pleasure of judging junior handling. I thoroughly enjoyed myself. It was lovely to see such good sportsmanship between these handlers. I would also like to say Good luck to the handlers who qualified for Richmond 2011!

When judging junior handling I am looking for those handlers who show they are capable of taking any dog into the ring, be able to show that dog at its best and can cope with anything the judge or the dog throws at them. Most importantly, the handler and dog should work as part of a team, so that everything appears smooth and polished. Calm, confident and in control handling that is sympathetic to the dog and never distracts from the dog.

Junior Handling 6-11 (1/1)

1st Jaideen Cottee aged 11. Although standing alone today in her class, Jaideen showing a young Dalmatian, she gave a very good standard of handling. She was smartly dressed yet did not distract from her dog. She carried out the patterns I had asked her to correctly. And her presentation was good. Her shadow work was correct, although would benefit from more practice to now make it more smooth. She was polite and also it was nice to see a handler with a smile in the ring. Smiling, tells me you're relaxed and that goes right down the lead. Jaideen could improve her overall performance by working on presenting the dogs teeth in a neater fashion and on tidier lead control when moving. In the challenge for Best Overall Handler, Jaideen was unfortunate to be met by a handler who was on top form that day. Overall a very promising Junior handler.

Junior Handling 12-16 (6/6)

1st and BJH, Sam Jennings aged 12. This young man was on top form and really impressed me, in a strong class of handlers. He is a very smart and sympathetic handler. He performed pattern work to a high standard with excellent lead changes, and never came between the dog and judge. Sam stood his dog correctly - exactly three paces away from me, and presented it beautifully. He uses the correct pace for his breed when moving and he also remembered to stand in line with the first dog in the line up. He has a natural ability to show his dog off without distracting from the dog's performance in any way and today really got the best out of his dog. All these things made him stand out in this class. He did not put a single foot wrong. He was an absolute pleasure to judge and he fully deserved the Best overall Junior Handler award. I wish him all the best of luck for his future show career.

2nd Abbie Williams aged 13. A very neat handler. Abbie ran her dog at the correct pace, her pattern work was neat and her overall presentation was good. She also impressed me with her strong knowledge on points of a dog. Her shadow work was correct as was her presentation standing and the presentation of teeth was also good. She also completed the run off with another handler competently, presenting her dog correctly at the end. I would like to see her relax a bit more as her nerves seemed to get the better of her today which showed with some fidgeting and too much moving about which at times resulted in distracting from the dog's overall performance. Abbie is a good Junior handler and has all the groundwork needed, she just needs that extra confidence to produce a smooth and effortless performance.

3rd Alexandra Adderley aged 12. A very smart, flashy Junior handler. Alexandra had excellent lead control, she presented her dog well and she impressed me with how smooth her overall performance was. I had a very hard decision decided between my 2nd and 3rd as they both had the same potential and are both excellent handlers. The only thing that split my 2nd and 3rd today was the run off. Alexandra needs to practise on her run off's to help her always know where to stand the dog, and what direction to face the dog, when returning to the judge.

Judge: Miss Katie South

Dogs

There were plenty of well behaved, parallel tracking, balanced looking dogs being shown but compared to the winning Dalmatians of the seventies, which was the time I owned and showed them, there are so many more at the top of and above the height standard. I also found to many upright shoulders and flattened fronts.

Puppy Dog (3,1) 1. Cauldwell's Popspride and Prejudice, a big black spotted lad but good overall balance and all in proportion. Balanced head well carried on long neck, and level topline, tail curved on the move. True free, flowing movement despite tendency to upright shoulder. BP 2. David & Saunder's Dallydyl the Wizard. Not as elegant as 1, heavier black spotting and more of him. Broad head, dark eyes. Well muscled rear, good feet. Movement OK.

Junior Dog (7,2) 1. Johnson's Tynevale The Tease. An up to size, a balanced elegant liver with good head and neck, rounded well angled and muscled hind quarters and the angles of scapular and humerus giving the desired curve to the front. True, free forward and rear stretching movement maintaining head and tail position and good topline although slightly close at the rear. BD. Did not move so freely in the challenge 2. Haywood & Ridgeway's Luccombe Deja Vous. An overall heavier spotted and a bigger dog. A well proportioned head and neck leading down to level topline. Not the front of one with a more upright shoulder. Flowing movement. 3. Alcock's Creaganbrec Face of Beau at Dalsparton Yearling Dog (2,1) 1. Lewis's Dalpetro D'Artangnan of Hunterswood JW.. Slightly longer black spotted lad, good dark eye, rather heavy in jowl. Good length of neck, level topline and rounded rear. Moving freely but a bit close at the back.

Maiden Dog (3) 1. Popspride and Predudice 2. Luccombe Deja Vous 3. Dallydyl The Wizard

Novice Dog (2,1) 1. Taylor & Mackinnon's Frankish Hope and Glory for Kingpippin. Black Spotted lad with well carried head of good balanced shape & dark eye. Moved out well with level topline. Slightly long and could have done with more depth of chest.

Graduate Dog (7,2) 1. Creaganbrec Face of Beau at Dalspartan.
