Judges Critique

City of Birmingham 01-09-19

DALMATIAN

A great honour to judge such a large representative entry. A breed I have not only judged over many years, but have also, owned bred and loved. I will confine my notes to how I weighed the breed up in general.

Firstly - Surprising to find so many with a high tail carriage. In some classes, almost the norm. The tail in this breed must never resemble the carriage one would find in the Bloodhound or Basset. Check with the excellent KC Breed standard, where it is clearly defined. Spotting in most cases excellent. Although in the higher classes, I found two, that had liver spotted heads and the correct liver pigment, but clearly were black spotted on the body and legs. A form of bi-colour, which the old judges would classify as mismarked. Then a couple that were just a Hotch Potch of coloured spots that would be clearly obvious to their handlers. Other comments which are intended to be helpful - particularly in the middle classes, some really lovely dogs, which appeared to have little ring training. I found I had to struggle to just make a normal check of correct dentition. The high cost of entries and travelling to a show, a well presented dog is a must, if it has a chance of making the Group.
Dallies had a great day in the big ring with BOB going third place in a particularly strong Group, and the Veteran Best Veteran on the day. So well done, those breeders and exhibitors who made it possible. Over time, this breed has inched up slowly, and many are right up to size. So it was good to see today, some breeders making the effort to keep well within the recommended standard. A word about the so-called Dally rash. So many with pink skins. We always had four or five in the Kennel it was never a problem. Usually diet is the reason. The late Barbra Woodhouse, her husband was a dietician in Harley Street, knew something about this subject. She would recommend, a diet of rice pudding from goats milk.
